

THROWN OUT OF SCOW, HE ASKS ARREST OF TWO

Hawaiians Refuse to Pay for Boat Ride and Heave Owner of Craft Overboard

Soaked to the skin, barefooted and wearing an old pair of khaki trousers and a blue shirt, Andrew Kaanaana, a young Hawaiian, rushed into the police station this morning to swear out a complaint against two men who had thrown him out of his own boat.

Kaanaana, according to the story he told Clerk Solomon Meheula, was crossing the harbor to quarantine island in a scow in which he was conveying two women and some children this morning. The crowd made merry on the way over because they had been drinking, said Kaanaana.

Nearing the rocks on the other shore, the men apparently decided they did not want to pay the 50 cents for the ride across, and rushing to the back of the scow, and throwing him picked him up and threw him overboard, later advancing the boat to the shore where they landed safely.

The Hawaiian swam back to the boat, rescuing it from the rocks, took it back across the harbor, and went immediately to the police station to arrange for the arrest of the unknown assailants.

TWELVE CASES OF RED CROSS EQUIPMENT ON MAUI GO TO MAINLAND

Twelve cases of surgical dressings and hospital garments were shipped in the steamer Maui yesterday by the Red Cross workers of the Hawaiian Allied War Relief.

There will be 30 more cases sent on the Hyades. Between 40 and 50 workers devoted their time to making surgical dressings yesterday morning.

The attendance at the Red Cross headquarters last week was better than during the previous week, but there is still room for more workers. Mrs. Henry Holmes, who is in charge of the packing and inspecting, and her assistants, Mrs. M. L. Rice and Miss Estelle Miller, are proving very faithful and devoted workers and are rushing their work along.

COWORKERS PRESENT NOBRIGA WITH CHAIR

Joe Nobriga, bailiff in Police Judge Harry Irwin's court, was rewarded yesterday, when in appreciation of his good work, he was presented with a revolving chair, which had been used from the days of monarchy.

The chair, made of old oak wood, was presented by none other than Nobriga's co-worker, John A. Baker, Hawaiian interpreter in police court, F. C. Benevides, Portuguese interpreter; Dan Kaseo, second clerk; S. G. Nodis, Japanese interpreter and the Chinese interpreters were witnesses to a simple and impressive ceremony.

Nobriga this morning expressed his appreciation for the timely gift which he soon made use of without delay.

Wisner, recently recalled to active service and named as commander of the Hawaiian department, is on board the transport. The Sheridan will probably arrive September 13 or 14.

TRAFFICKER IN OPIUM FINED $200 AND COSTS

Police Judge Irwin does not intend to be lenient with persons convicted of trafficking in opium.

This was evidenced in police court yesterday when D. Makasahoa, a Hawaiian, and apparently a victim of opium, pleaded guilty to a charge of selling the poppy drug without proper authority. Judge Irwin sentenced him to pay a fine of $200 and costs of court.

FILIPINO IS GIVEN 42 MONTHS FOR BURGLARY

He was alleged to have entered a home in Manoa valley and stolen goods of considerable value. He was sentenced to serve three and one-half years in Oahu prison and pay the costs of court.

W. G. JORDAN DIES.

W. G. Jordan, for ten years foreman of the boiler shop of the Honolulu Iron Works, died in the Queen's hospital yesterday afternoon after an illness of a week. He came from California many years ago.

Two daughters are now in an Eastern college. The deceased is also survived by a widow.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the funeral service will be held at Williams' Undertaking parlor, interment being in the Nuuanu cemetery.

FEDERAL COURT TO START WORK ON OCTOBER 8

Federal court will open for the fall term on October 8, and it is likely that the members of the new grand jury will be notified to be in court on that day, says District Attorney S. C. Huber. The trial jurors, selected yesterday, probably will not be called until a week or two following the opening of court, and until the grand jury has begun the return of partial reports.

While the federal calendar is fairly light, there are one or two important cases to be heard. Chief among these is the case of George Roenitz, former clerk to the commandant at Pearl Harbor, who is charged with espionage. This will probably be one of the first cases to be probed by the grand jury.

HAWAII IS GIVEN CHARGE OF DRAFT

will be put into execution here is answered definitely in the affirmative. Date of the drawing will be announced later. Mr. Green said this morning when he has developed enough of an organization to determine what time is practicable, but the drawing will be in the senate chamber and will follow the same lines of organization that have already proved so effective in the states.

Honolulu will become headquarters for the draft in Hawaii as the national capital was headquarters for the draft in the mainland. The territory will be divided into a certain number of districts corresponding to the districts of each local registration board, but these details are not yet worked out. They are now under consideration.

In fact Chairman Green began work on the new task this morning within five minutes after the assignment was given him, taking the first steps in the development of the organization. "The splendid showing made by your territory in preparing for the registration demonstrates what can be done in speeding up the organization under the new instructions, should necessity therefore develop," wrote General Crowder in a personal letter to the governor.

"While at present the necessity for speed in completing your organization is not urgent by reason of the fact that you have already furnished more than your first quota, nevertheless there is every reason why there should be no unnecessary delay. The drawing should take place at the earliest practicable date, consistent with efficient preparation."

The fact that the registration board was able to cable the exact returns of registration before midnight of that day is regarded as one of the things that most impressed the national officials with the local work and may be of direct responsibility for this recognition by General Crowder.

The duties devolving on Hawaii include, besides the drawing proper, the selection of men for the national army and the mobilization and encampment of those selected until such time as taken over by the war department.

Chairman Green announced today that the Young Women's Christian Association has volunteered the services of clerks to assist in exemption board and draft work.

Alcantara is also facing a charge of assault with intent to murder.

DELEGATES SELECTED TO REPRESENT OAHU AT COMING CIVIC CONVENTION

Thirty-eight delegates-at-large were named today by the central committee of the civic convention to represent Oahu. There will be no delegates-at-large from the other islands.

Hawaii, Maui and Kauai elect their delegates as representatives, respectively, of entire islands, not of any organization. Oahu delegates, on the other hand, are elected by the Chamber of Commerce, the Commercial Club and other civic bodies.

Hence it happens that delegates-at-large from the other islands would be superfluous, since every one of them is really a delegate-at-large without the title. Whereas on Oahu there are numbers of public spirited citizens who ought to take part in a civic convention, but whose names do not appear among those regularly elected by the different civic organizations. The list of those chosen at large today follows:

Delegates-at-large: J. M. McChesney, James A. Kennedy, Fred L. Waldron, Robert W. Shingle, J. K. Kalamianale, S. C. Huber, L. Tenney Peck, Norman Watkins, W. H. McInerney, Y. Takakawa, H. S. Hayward, Thornton Hardy, Frank O. Boyer, R. V. Menary, Wallace R. Farrington, F. J. Lowrey, E. D. Tenney, E. Faxon Bishop, Charles F. Chillingworth, E. W. Quinn, M. C. Pacheco, Clarence H. Cooke, R. O. Matheson, Riley H. Allen, C. T. Wilder, C. C. von Hamm, Charles R. Hemenway, Governor Pinkham, Curtis P. Lauka, the commanding general of the Hawaiian department, Captain George R. Clark, commandant of the Pearl Harbor naval station; W. R. Hobbs, acting superintendent of public works; Rev. D. C. Peters, C. C. Graves, J. Kenneth McAlpine, and Arthur R. G. McCormick.

In addition to these delegates-at-large, Oahu has a representation of 90 regularly elected delegates. Eighty of these names already have been received by the central committee and of the 10 lacking eight are known in advance, namely, Mayor Fern and the seven members of the board of supervisors. The mayor still has two appointments to make. The list of names follows:

Oahu's Delegates: Representing the Ad Club—Harry Decker, John H. Soper, Charles R.

The quick work of Mrs. Howard of 497 East Beretania street, saved the commissary department near the national guard armory from possible destruction by fire yesterday. Mrs. Howard put out a small blaze which had started near the building, before it had a chance to spread.

"Our Presidents" is the title of a timely booklet that is being sent out by the Bank of Honolulu. A sketch and photograph of each president add instruction to the national patriotic interest. The flag adorns the cover and beneath it is this sentiment of Stephen Decatur: "Our country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."

LOCAL ARRESTS ARE INCREASING

Persons Apprehended in August Total 559; Figure for July Was 478

An increase in the number of arrests for August over the total for July is shown in the monthly report of the cases handled by the police, compiled by Solomon Meheula, clerk at the police station. A total of 559 arrests were made last month while 478 were made the month before.

Exactly $8,973 was made by the police court last month in bail for feigned, and fines and costs in post. During the month before the money made totaled $4,830.

The chief offenses for which arrests were made were gambling, for which 209 were taken in and 206 convicted; assault and battery, for which 58 were arrested and 26 convicted; drunkenness, for which 44 were arrested; vagrancy, for which 33 were arrested; and headless driving, for which 17 were arrested.

There was a decrease of three in the number arrested for drunkenness, there being 47 arrested for this offense during July. There was a large increase in the number of vagrancy cases, however, there being only 9 arrests on this charge in July and 33 during August. The same number were arrested for headless driving during August as during July and about the same number for assault, there being just a slight increase in the latter month.

Of the arrests made last month, 438 were convicted and 117 discharged, whereas the month before there were 376 convicted and 185 discharged.

That there has been a gradual increase in the number of arrests commensurate with the growth of the city, is the statement of Solomon Meheula who compiles the records of the arrests. The increase this month, however, he says is greater than usual.

Those arrested last month included 61 Hawaiians, 101 Chinese, 123 Japanese, 25 Portuguese, and 128 others.
